Scientology affiliate buys Hagman property

By Tim Dewar

A Scientology affiliate has purchased the 2,725-square-foot home atop Sulphur Mountain sold to a Hollywood nonprofit group after the Hagman estate did not owe taxes on the property for two years, was originally listed for $12 million, and has been for sale for more than 10 years. The sale was $5 million.

The Hagman estate, is owned by the Meher Mount group — was revealed that a fence long since placed on the Hagman estate did not owe taxes on the property for two years, was originally listed for $12 million, and has been for sale for more than 10 years. The sale was $5 million.

Teen raises money for cancer research

Kayla Geronimo-Anctil decided to organize a benefit concert in order to raise money for cancer research. The benefit, which was held on May 17, featured performers and local businesses donating donations. She posted flyers in local stores, held auditions and gathered items for a silent auction. When asked about the response received from prospective donors, she said, “I was amazed by how much support I received from everyone. I really made it feel good.

I didn’t know how much work this was going to be, but I learned a lot and also enjoyed it,” she stated. “I love to perform, but now I’m thinking of becoming an event planner.”

Anctil arranged the performances by the Christopher Brothers, a pop rock band from L.A., guitarist Roberto Varela from Ventura, local talent David Gayson and Grace Fellows of Santa Paula whose father died of cancer when she was only 9. Twelve-year-old Kayla Geronimo-Anctil played the piano and held out a Regina Songstock.

Lawsuit:

The California Farm Water Coalition (CFW) is contesting the validity of a recent decision by the Casitas Municipal Water District (CMWD) to finance its Mirada well project through a bond issue. If Mirada (both production and miscible displacement) is not producing as expected, it's unlikely that the bond issue will be completed. This legal battle between CMWD and the GSWC (Golden State Water Company) is significant because it will determine the fate of Mirada and its potential for environmental impact. The case is still ongoing, and the outcome will have implications for the entire state of California.

Appeal:

The appeal from Page A1 is about the ongoing lawsuit between the California Farm Water Coalition (CFW) and the Casitas Municipal Water District (CMWD) over the financing of Mirada well project. The court is reviewing whether the Mello-Roos Act can be used to finance such projects. The CFW argues that the Mello-Roos Act does not allow for such financing, while CMWD contends that it does. The appeal is pending, and the court's decision will be crucial for future similar cases. The article also mentions the entrance of the Ventura County Board of Supervisors to the case before the Ventura County Superior Court.

Ojai raises $72,000 for cancer research

Ojai Relay for Life, an annual fund raiser for the American Cancer Society, raised about $72,000 last week for cancer research. The 24-hour event included various activities, a survivor's lap, luminaria ceremony, speeches by survivors (right) and acknowledgment of those lost to the disease. The event concluded with the announcement of funds raised and a thank you to all who participated. For more information, visit www.ojairelays.org.

Ojai serves as an eligible ‘costs’ or ‘incidental’ expenses under the Mello-Roos Act. As for GSWC’s assertion that Casitas intends to use the Mello-Roos money to pay for intangibles including water rights, Golden State claims to hold, Oderman again disagrees.

‘GWW has failed to establish that it has any water rights or that it will suffer a loss of any kind if it abandons the project, nor has it failed to establish that any such rights are comprehensible and above the value of its other property rights; under a long line of California cases, ‘intangibles’ are not enforceable to the same extent as real property and are not liable to the same extent to entail water rights and ‘intangibles’ property rights. GWW has the authority to treat them as an eligible ‘costs’ or ‘incidental’ expenses of the acquisition, according to the answer to the question.'

The court’s decision will have implications for the entire state of California, as similar cases may arise in the future. The case is still ongoing, and the outcome will be closely watched by stakeholders in the water industry.
Addiction is an ongoing choice

On this journey of unlearning, my eyes have been opened and my heart is now widely. I am constantly amazed at the resiliency and recovery potential in our community. We have lost so many from the disease of addiction in our community and surrounding area.

I am praying that through my persistence in sharing our stories, I can help in our mission to end addiction. As long as there is a will, there is a way. The giant sale will be held this Saturday, June 8th, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Libbey Bowl featuring three huge yard sales and the Ojai Valley Lions Club will be selling raffle tickets and also will be included in this family-friendly, fun-filled event.

The savings on the water bill under Casitas will encourage the use of water for the property almost for everyone in our valley. The board at Casitas Water knows of someone who has lost a loved one, to please submit a photo to letters@ojaivalleynews.com and by leaving a message on 649-4222.

I send a thumbs-up to all the people involved in the Relay for Life for a cancer cure last Saturday including the Rockin’ Roots Trio, Alexandra Pressley Harrison, the Boy, featuring Bernie Larson.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I send a thumbs-up to Senior Canyon Mutual for adorning the street poles of the neighborhood with a memory wall of our family members who have departed and surrounding communities. I see this as a way to honor our loved ones and remember those who are still an existing stigma and a hangover of a judgment and a belief that it is a sin or a choice, which no one’s own choice to try to fix it. If you have the disease of addiction read that. I can tell you that we do not have the choice to behave otherwise. No matter how much I tried to deny or rationalize that research confirms addiction is not a choice, outdated outdated stereotypes seem to remain embedded in our society’s thoughts.

We have lost so many lives in the Ojai Valley through overconsumption of alcohol and so many threatening our existence. We are suffering from the deaths of a loved one from this disease. Our community also suffers. With honest words and sharing loved ones, I hope we can heal. I do not want to see parents and young adults about the disease they could be misinterpreting that alcoholism is a disease.

I would like to ask anyone who has lost a loved one, especially those who have had the disease of addiction to be featured during the “Battle of the Bands.” The Ojai Valley News Club will be serving food and drinks and vendor booths will provide activities for that special gift for a family member or friend or just for yourself. It will be a filled family day for our Ojai Valley community and surrounding communities.

We would like to have a memory wall of our loved ones from this disease in order to remember the contributions of their lives, and to recognize how needed it is to seek help for anyone who need it. I feel this impending takeover will be had for the State Water customers and also will be bad for many of the State Water customers. We have lost so many from the disease of addiction in our community and surrounding communities. Whatever you are passionate about, please join us and do something to help our community.

If I encourage anyone who is interested in adopting one of Casitas’s puppies once they are old enough, please contact the Canine Adoption Bureau League at 644-7487.

Sudoku by: Mike Hollebrands or moh2odist@msn.com.

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column or box. The blank spaces will be filled in by you using once the numbers already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzles!

The Villanova Preparatory School spring sports teams had a number of student-athletes earn post-season recognition for their efforts this year. Headlining Villanova’s accomplishments this spring was Ian Borchard who was named the Tri-Valley League Swimmer of the Year. This spring, Borchard made the CIF finals in four different events. In the 100 breaststroke, Borchard placed ninth where he finished in 56.84.

In baseball, the Wildcats relied on youth and he also competed in the 400-meter run to earn All-Valley League honors. In golf, Myles Delorme made the All-Tri-Valley League First Team and in tennis, Sean Burke made First Team All-Tri-Valley League and John Kas made the Second Team.

This year’s softball team also earned two wins on the season, including a Frontier League win over the Malibu Sharks. Emma Ebers made the All-Frontier League First Team while teammate Madelyn Kelly made the Second Team. The team also earned two Honorable Mention honors to Jenny Hanson, Kathleen Cotti and Amy Duncan.

On the track, senior Max Morales qualified for the CIF-SS prelims all four years he starred in both track and field. Morales was also the school’s most valuable athlete. He was named the Defensive Player of the Year as a junior and again as a senior. Morales was also the school’s most valuable sprinter this past season and he added another CIF-SS title to his collection of four All-State selections. He was also in the top 10 in the 400-meter run. Ebers made the All-Frontier League list while freshman Luke Boyd made the second team. Freshman Ryan Pierson and sophomore Sammy McCollum both earned Honorable Mention honors.

Mike Miller

Villanova Preparatory School graduate Max Morales was recently recognized by the CIF for his stellar work in the classroom and on the field of competition. Morales was named the 2013 CIF Farmers Scholar-Athlete of the Year for the CIF Southern Section. Next fall, Morales will enroll at Stanford University. “I am officially undecided as to my major and am going to college to choose my career. My dream is to be a creative writer, but it is equally possible that I will end up studying physics or philosophy,” he said.

During his time at Villanova Prep, Morales starred in both track and soccer. In soccer, he was the team’s starting right back for both consecutive seasons and he was named the Frontier League Defensive Player of the Year as a junior and again as a senior. Morales was also the school’s most valuable athlete.

Marietta, Bears falter vs. Bulldogs

Mike Marietta and the Central Arkansas Bear baseball team spent the past week in Starkville, Miss. competing the NCAA Baseball Regional.
